Logo of RAJCPSC

Two 'Dark Green' semi-circular ribbon with different radius and arc holding each other thus making a capital Omega (Ω) have shaped the main structure. Omega (Ω) is the last Greek letter implies 'the ultimate'. The green circles stand for the lush green land of Bangladesh. The name of the institution 'RAJSHAH CANTONMENT PUBLIC SCHOOL & COLLEGE' in capital letters in 'Chalk Yellow' colour is writ on the top green semi-circular ribbon. Similarly, the motto of the institution 'READ IN THE NAME OF YOUR LORD WHO CREATED' is inscribed on the lower green semi-circular ribbon.

The silhouette of an open book, in dark green colour, is placed within the omega where the book represents the oldest and the most classical source of reading for knowledge. An 'Open Book' also symbolizes a person or a subject that can easily be understood.

A red sun appeared over the book depicting the sun rising over Bangladesh and the red colour symbolizes the martyrs who sacrificed their lives for the independence of the motherland.

A pen having silver body with golden nib is projected vertically on the book and on the red sun. The pen is a universally accepted symbol of learning and intellect. Here the silver colour of the pen implies 'the foundation' and the golden colour implies 'the summit'.

The year 2013 endorsed under the book marks the year of establishment of the institution.

And education is the only alternative in itself to create an enlightened man.
